BEFORE THE QUAKE: HISTORIC HOUSE & WALKING TOUR

ART DECO TRUST EVENT

Step back in time and discover the hidden stories of old Napier, before the landscape was forever changed by the 1931 earthquake. This guided tour begins with the early history of Mataruahou, the hill that once stood as an island and is now the heart of Napier. From there, you'll take a short walk to historic Scinde Island House, exploring the rich and often turbulent story of Napier's early township along the way. Built in 1867 by George Swan, the house is a rare time capsule. Swan's photographs are among the earliest taken of Napier and its people, offering a vivid glimpse into life on the Island during the Victorian era. The story continues through to 1931, when the family living in the house fled to the beach in the chaotic hours following the devastating earthquake. Duration 1.5 hours.

NEWEST CITY ON THE GLOBE!

ART DECO TRUST EVENT

In February 1985, a group of heritage advocates united to promote the new "Take a Walk Through Art Deco Napier" leaflet, funded by the Hawke's Bay Museum, the Ministry of Works & Development, and Napier City Council. In July 1985, the same group premiered Peter Wells' evocative documentary Newest City on the Globe, drawing 1,100 people for a walking tour and screening. Celebrated for its bold cinematography and poignant storytelling, the documentary captures Napier's dramatic transformation following the 1931 earthquake. With sweeping visuals of sunlit facades and pastel-hued streetscapes, the documentary is as much a tribute to architecture as it is to resilience. The film's strong public reception helped rouse efforts to protect this built heritage and ultimately inspired the formation of the Art Deco Trust and its enduring programme of walks and tours. Join us to celebrate this visionary documentary with a special screening and Q&A session hosted by the Art Deco Trust.
